

AAAA UPDATE 4 JULY 2006

Greetings all,

Firstly, my apologies for not sending out this update earlier, I have been working (and still am) all through country NSW doing asbestos audits for one of our banks. Averaging about 300 km/day plus working in three banks keeps me pretty busy.

However, time for at least a brief update to let you all know where we are at the moment.

Most work this month has been involved with organising the inaugural Committee Meeting, an EGM and a working Committee Meeting over the weekend 22/23 July. All Committee positions now have nominations, except for the Promotions and PR Officer – any takers out there??

Motions have been formalised and checked for legality Gib Owen, venues arranged, Committee Members formally notified of meetings, and preliminary work in preparation of the meetings underway by some committee members. Jack Westernhagen has been busy preparing information on memorabilia costs, designs and availability, thanks to Glenn Jones our web site has been finalised and is just waiting for the meetings to be fully commissioned but can be viewed now in outline on www.austarmyapprentice.org.

We have been granted income tax exemption and GST exemption and now have an ABN.

The company I consult to is looking for suitable people to be trained as asbestos assessors, both as casual consultants and as full time employers. Anyone thinking they may be interested should consider the following:

1. Must have an understanding of building construction and terminology.
2. Be a non-smoker
3. Be prepared to work primarily in SA, but also in other areas.
4. Be prepared to travel in remote areas for extended periods. (Partners can accompany you on these trips)
5. Must be prepared to work unsupervised and be completely reliable in there work ethics.

If interested, then training will be provided. It would be a bonus if you have your own 4WD and have training in OH&S.

Anyone interested, let me know. I have been working as a consultant in this area for about twelve years and have found the work interesting and satisfying.

Well, that is about all the news for now. I will post news of the meetings and motions after 22/23 July on our web site, which will then be the prime source for AAAA Inc news. Membership details and application forms will also be available on the web site.
