Magnificent!

70th Reunion & Anzac Day March Canberra 24-27 April 2018

Greg Haggett, AAAA Vice President, when proposing the toast to Apprentices during the dinner, remarked that the Reunion was magnificent!

He started by saying, "At the 50th Reunion in 1998, Colonel John Hartley addressed the combined Apprentice group after we had 'marched' on to the parade ground at Latchford Barracks. I use that term 'march' loosely as it was more of a stroll than a march!! In his opening address, COL Hartley said, whilst looking at us all gathered in front of him, that one word came to his mind.

At that point I thought, 'Uh oh!', (expecting that he would admonish us for the lacklustre march on) but, to our collective relief, he continued on and said the one word, 'Magnificent'."

Greg continued, "Yesterday, at the Dawn Service and again tonight, I see exactly the same thing. We are truly a magnificent group of Australians who have served and continue to serve this beautiful country we love so dearly. We are brothers and sisters from other mothers and will be for life.

It is my absolute honour to lead the toast to all Apprentices. Ladies and gentlemen, to all Australian Army Apprentices."

The many Facebook posts, and a full report on the Reunion to be posted on the Website in due course will tell the story far better than this Newsletter can. I have therefore inserted a few photos and accompanying words to whet your appetite.

(from page 1). "The story behind the (above) photo is at the meet and greet, I had my kids Riley, 12 and Hayley, 8 with me. To give them something to do so I could catch up with a few mates, I asked them to go around and find a person with a 1st intake on their name tag. Not expecting them to find anyone, three beers later they come back and saying, 'Dad, Dad we have found four of them sitting out in the other room!' So out we go and heard some of the best stories and yarns of life of the first Apprentices. Definitely was the highlight of my trip."

The Anzac Day March and National Ceremony was also a magnificent event. With about 900 Apprentices marching, this represented perhaps one of the largest ever contingents to take the few steps up Anzac Pde to the Australian War Memorial.

By the way, if you want to borrow the marching banner or one of the pull-up banners (as shown on page 1) for an Intake or other event, just let the Secretary know and arrangements will be made to provide it. Ensure you give plenty of notice of course.

For those who could only hear parts of the voice-over during the March (or for those who couldn't hear it at all), here's a copy:

"On 2nd August 1948, the Australian Army opened a trade training school in Victoria to meet the growing technological needs of the post-war Army. A system similar to a British Army boy training scheme was adopted. Soldiers aged from 15 to 17 1/2 years were enlisted to undergo a live-in, three-year trade qualifying course at the Army Apprentices School at Balcombe.

After graduation, a further period of supervised on-the-job-training in regional military static workshops followed, before employment in an appropriate trade position in Army field force units. Training was initially three years followed by one-year OJT but, from 1976 for all trades except Electronics Tradesmen, two years' OJT followed only two years' training before AAS graduation. The initial service commitment for an Army Apprentice was for 9 years.

In December 1982, the School relocated from Balcombe to new, purpose-built facilities at Latchford Barracks, Bonegilla, near Wodonga and, from 1984 onwards, female Apprentices commenced training.

In 1991, the School was retitled the Army College of TAFE. This period also saw growing expectation for teenagers to complete senior high school and this trend greatly affected the numbers of suitable applicants. This brought about closure of the underage soldier trade training scheme and opening of the school facilities to Army Adult Trade Trainees.

The last Apprentice graduation parade was on 8th April 1995 and the College closed after graduating some 7500 Apprentices into the ARA as architectural draughtsmen, blacksmiths, bricklayers, carpenters and joiners, clerks, electrical fitters and mechanics, electronics technicians, fitters and turners, motor mechanics, musicians, plumbers and gasfitters, radio mechanics, and welders.

As the 49th Intake completed their OJT in late 1998, it brought the Army Apprentice Scheme to a close after 50 years.

Many graduates have been commissioned with some achieving senior and general rank, while many others chose to leave the ARA and attained success in civil industry and commerce.

Graduates of the Army Apprentice Scheme have been credited with being the backbone of the maintenance of mobility and firepower of an ever-increasing, technically-oriented Army, providing electrical, mechanical and construction engineering expertise to every area in which the Australian Army has served, at home or overseas, peacekeeping or on active service, from Korea to current deployments."

The Last Post Ceremony at the AWM on the 26th, featuring CPL Ronald John Engstrom, 18th C&J, who was killed in Vietnam on 30 January 1970, was a memorable one. Some of those attending reported having the opportunity to meet both Bob Semple, 98-year-old “Rat of Tobruk” and DR Brendan Nelson, AWM Director.

The dinner, also on the 26th, was attended by nearly 1100 Apprentices and their partners, wives, husbands, families and friends. The magnificent table layout (shown here prior to the dinner) was arranged in Intake order, allowing those attending to catch up with their immediate class mates, as well as being close to Intakes both adjacent to theirs, and far removed.

Jack Gamble, 4th Intake C&J was “optically embarrassed” (he left his glasses behind), so he couldn’t read out his poem. Those at the Reunion will have seen it on the back of the programme, but it is reproduced here for those who couldn’t attend:

“REUNION” by Jack Gamble, 4th Intake C&J

*As we gather here in Canberra
For our Seventieth celebration
Appies will come from everywhere
All points of our mighty Nation
Names and faces may be hard to match
As the years begin to have their toll
But memories will be floating back
Of a mate, a missing soul
For as we assemble for the parade
Spare a thought for all
Those that can't make it here today
They may have answered that last call
And after all the meet and greet
It's time for a yarn or two
Maybe it's about your first Crab night
Boy! Weren't there quite a few
There will be talk of which intake was great
Or if you were even or odd
Doesn't really matter this day
We're like teeth in a great big cog
The initial intakes must hold a place
Starting off our history supreme
These days we may not have youth on our side
But remember we're still Australia's Cream.*

Jack also reported on Facebook after the Reunion, “Well, Canberra turned on the good weather for us, a little warm at times (good to work up a thirst I'd say). It was great to meet up with so many old mates, especially those four 1st Intakes, have not seen a couple of them for well over 65 years or more. Never knew them as boys, they were well & truly men by the end of their 1st year when I (first) met them, (4th Intake). The ranks of them are slowly dwindling now sadly. But I had the pleasure of meeting some new faces for the very first time @ the Meet & greet also the dinner. You don't need to see a cap or a tie to pick out an Appy, there is some inbuilt (something) is it a personality (that) makes us stand out in a crowd, the know how or how to get around a situation one way or another, fair or foul, or is that a harsh way to put it? One thing for sure the Association will be in good hands for a long, long time. But what a fine job our present committees are doing, it would be unfair to name or single out a particular person among them for their efforts, they are a great team, congratulations to them all on their work.

It was hard to say farewell after the dinner, just as well we virtually got kicked out, the last topic being when & where we would see each other again.

But early next morning as I drove north & home I spotted a Nomad about ¼ hr out of the capital going in same direction as myself, so I gave him a blast on the horn as I passed, he also responded, the same again by another early bird just past Goulburn turn off. I stopped for a TOSKA at the Hawkesbury River & spotted another I met in the street in Canberra, a greaser from L.A.D @ Armoured Corps. So we are never far from old appy mates, no matter where we travel, spare some time for a yarn.

Congratulations to all for such a wonderful reunion. On behalf of a couple of mates that couldn't make it.

May the 4th be with you (always). An old chippie.”

From the President

By Harry Hoger, 20th Radio Mech, President AAAA
president@austarmyapprentice.org

To all who supported, contributed, planned and managed the reunion in Canberra, a very grateful thank you from all members. It provided the evidence that we mattered as Army Apprentices and more so today with the values that were embedded those many years ago: loyalty, trust, team player, friendship, never leave a mate behind.

Frank Poole, 10th Intake Architectural Draughtsman, who initiated the incorporation of our present Association in 2006, was the first President and subsequently became a Life Member, succumbed to his illness on 10 April 2018. His funeral was attended by myself and other Apprentices.

Our communication with the membership has been enhanced with social media, Facebook in particular. Please visit our Web page to check information about your Intake, and pass on the Newsletter to your contacts. <http://www.austarmyapprentice.org>

We are a military family, possibly the largest ex-service organisation in place today as displayed at the Anzac Day March – another reason to keep us proud of our Association.

Vale Frank Stewart Poole 10th Intake Architectural Draughtsman, 16 April 1938 – 10 April 2018

By Jeff Heron, 21st Radio Mech, Editor
news@austarmyapprentice.org.au

Frank's funeral service was held at Norwood Park Chapel, Mitchell, ACT on Wednesday, 18 April 2018 at 1.30 pm.

The eulogy below was presented by Harry Hoger, President AAAA.

"Good afternoon to everyone.

My name is Harry Hoger and I am the current President of the Australian Army Apprentices Association. I would like to share with you Frank's start as an Army Apprentice and his involvement with our Association.

Frank at the Apprentices Together Reunion, Canberra, 28 Oct 2011
242949, Frank Stewart Poole, enlisted into the Australian Army in January 1955, as an Army Apprentice at the Apprentices School located at Balcombe, Mornington Peninsula, Victoria. His trade was Architectural Draughtsman and his Intake was

10th. He graduated in December 1957 and was posted to the Corps, Royal Australian Engineers where he had an outstanding military career.

In 2006, after leaving the military and working and living in Canberra, he approached the AWM to have a plaque for the Apprentices KIA to be located there. He was informed that to proceed we would have to be an incorporated association. Frank got together a working committee from ex-Apprentices and some still serving to establish the AAAA Inc in 2006.

Frank went back to the AWM about the plaque but was informed we needed to be a unit of a Corps, or the Corps itself as well. He researched what could be done, and, with help from the Defence Dept, located Gaza Ridge Barracks, Bandiana, Wodonga, which has a memorial park. Today we have our own Memorial with plaque, which was a project that was taken to completion by Frank, having skills in this area. The memorial was dedicated in 2008.

Our most recent plaque for Army Apprentices is installed at the School of Military Engineering, Holsworthy, Sydney. This will be dedicated this year. Again, with his skills in this area, Frank took this project to completion.

Since 2006, Frank's contribution can be followed through our committee meeting minutes, AGM minutes and reports. He was the first President of our Association from 2006-2011. Since then he had been the Chair of our Memorial Committee to the present time. For his contribution to our Association, he was elevated to life member in 2011.

Next week we are conducting our National All Intakes Reunion here in Canberra, for which the planning started 18 months ago. Frank was heavily involved in this process and was all teed up ready for our Anzac Day March participation, until his illness.

He has made a valued contribution to the AAAA Inc. This effort is recognised and will be built upon in the future. I thank Frank's family for his time over the past years, and Val's on the many occasion I telephoned to speak with him. Also, in allowing me to be here and speak on behalf of all Army Apprentices.

We are deeply saddened by your loss and to reaffirm our memories of him will be with us well into the future. Thank you"

From Barry Teal, 10A Intake Clerk: "I think our Association owes much to Frank Poole. The stand outs are the reinvigoration he gave the original Association and the product of his hard work, diligence and application to getting the job done – the Memorial at Bandiana – typically, characteristics of Army Apprentices. I had the privilege of being part of his 'sounding board' for both.

A common characteristic of the relationships found amongst former Army Apprentices is their persistent longevity. Those of us that have been blessed with a friendship, initially forged in the commonality of our experience in our formative years, rarely, if ever, attach any sense of definable value to their existence; there is neither time nor need. It is only when they are ended by death do we reflect upon their longevity and the contribution and value of their existence.

My friendship with him extended over 65 years and as I reflect upon it now I value it most high."

This final note comes from Ross King, 10th Intake Architectural Draughtsman, "On my way home from Canberra and the funeral of my friend and fellow 10th, Frank Poole, I was privileged by being allowed to visit the Apprentice Memorial at Bandiana, Frank's greatest achievement and gift to us all."

Guitars for Veterans Australia

By Dave Cox, 26th Intake Radio Mech

A new initiative is helping Australian veterans and former ADF members suffering the effects of PTSD express themselves through the power of music. A number of Australian veterans and former ADF members continue to live with the effects of PTSD, depression and the challenges of re-adjustment to normal life long after their service has concluded. To assist, Guitars for Veterans (G4VA) provides veterans with a gift guitar and lesson plan as an opportunity to learn a new skill and a creative outlet.

G4VA is a not-for-profit grassroots team that accepts donated guitars, re-purposes them and gifts them to willing veterans, along with a ten-lesson plan to help veterans learn how to play the instrument. By enabling veterans to create music at their own pace with expert tuition, the program aims to help veterans express their thoughts and experiences via music. Dave Cox, an ex-Appy, founder and team leader for the Melbourne based organisation, said "The ability to simply enable the music potential within a person, it may just open new horizons, ideas and direction for one of our veterans."

While managing the re-purposing of donated guitars and volunteers to provide lessons, and matching willing participants is the current goal, G4VA hopes to expand in the long term with music forums and song-writing coaching, all of which will provide new opportunities for veterans to express themselves through music.

Jodi, a former ADF member for 8 years, recently received a donated guitar and commenced a structured lesson plan with a qualified instructor under the overview of G4VA – the first of many veterans the organisation is seeking to support.

Barry Teal, 10A Clerk, First Class Honours

Barry Teal has earned the dubious honour of being the oldest student to be awarded first class honours by Deakin University for his thesis on the probable consequence of the loss of Australian-owned sea lift capacity post World War Two.

SPAASSM

Dale McKeough 1000th Association Member

Readers of the February 2018 Newsletter will recall that Dale McKeough, 24th F&T was identified as Association Member No 1000 and was the winner of a SPAASSM DVD. On receipt of his DVD, Dale wrote:

“Hi Jeff, Firstly, I received the DVD, what a surprise, thank you very much. What a magnificent collection of photos etc. Mind you I haven’t gone all the way through it yet. I didn’t think you could get so much info onto one disc. The ‘core group’ & the ‘part time group’ did a wonderful job. A couple of hours put in there. Ha Ha. Again thank you. Cheers, Stay Well, Dale”

Competition

Of course, Committee members or the man himself may not enter. First correct answer to me at news@austarmyapprentice.org receives a copy of the SPAASSM DVD.

Canberra Region Lunch 14 Mar 2018

news@austarmyapprentice.org

Another change of venue this time saw 16 (15 Apprentices plus Jan Heron) enjoy a pleasant lunch at the Woden Southern Cross Club. Unfortunately, the usual Sydneysiders were again unable to make it due to a conflict with NSW RAEME activities. Lucky door prizes this time were Easter eggs. The next lunch should be at the same venue.

Conspicuous Service Medal (CSM) MAJ Paul Frederick PRICKETT (Retd), WA, 28th Intake Electrical Fitter

For meritorious devotion to duty as the Executive Officer of the 3rd Battalion, the Royal Australian Regiment, the School of Infantry and the Parachute Training School.

Major Prickett's performance as the Executive Officer of the three units is characterised by the utmost professionalism and devotion to duty. He mentored and inspired his superiors, peers and subordinates alike, while his achievements improved Army's readiness, governance and administration processes, and had an outstanding influence on several generations of the Royal Australian Infantry Corps. Paul is pictured with his wife Clare.

Certificate of Appreciation for Neil Bennett

By Keith Lowe, 22nd Intake Fitter & Turner

In the November 2017 Newsletter, we advised that Neil Bennett, 13th Intake Vehicle Mechanic had stepped down from the Secretary role.

During the 70th Anniversary Dinner, Association Secretary Keith Lowe presented Neil with a Certificate of Appreciation from our Association for his six years of service as the Secretary. During the presentation, Keith said that Neil had served the Association well from the 2011 Annual General Meeting until he retired at the 2017 Annual General Meeting. Neil certainly brought a period of stability to the Secretary's position, as his predecessors had managed only one or two years. His insight into the Association contributed to a smooth transition for the new office bearer.

Request for photos, Peter Ferris

From Ellen Ferris ellenandrobin1@bigpond.com

"Hi, I am the wife of Peter Ferris, 27th intake (Electronics Tradesman). Peter passed away on 30 October 1999 (the date could be added to your list of deceased former members). I have very few photos of his younger and army days and I'd like to get some more if anyone had any with him in as I'd like to share them with our children.

Peter was in 102 Field Workshop, Lavarack, Townsville and prior to that in a Cav unit in Enoggera Brisbane. Peter took a discharge in early 1981 and I have lost contact with people we knew then.

If there is anyone you could refer my message onto who may have known Peter and have any photos from his army days that they could share I'd be most appreciative.

Thanks, Ellen Ferris"

Letter to the Committee

From John Rodgers

"Tim and Committee,

This is the first re-union I have attended, not just as an Appy. I was humbled by the experience and would have liked more time to catch up (with) those who left me with many good memories of my time at Balcombe.

I have been to many an Anzac Day Dawn Service and parade, but not marched in one as an ex-serviceman. This was a very humbling experience, and more so being at Canberra for the last of the 100-year remembrances of Anzac Day, added to (the) pleasure of being surrounded by Appies from the very first to the last intake.

I have no complaints, as I do not have anything to compare. However, I offer you and those who got this up and running and coming to a resounding finale with the dinner, the heartfelt thanks from my wife and me. An experience we will not soon forget.

Thank you very much."

In the interests of fair reporting, this is just one of the feedback messages from those attending the Reunion. Not all were as complimentary, and the Committee thanks all those who took the time to provide feedback, positive and negative, all of which will be examined with a view to help improve future events. (Ed)
